STAMMERING.—We, the subscribers, havor art of curing Stammering, and other im-pediments of speech, and it having been whispered, by some person or persons that we did not obtain our knowledge in an honest and correct way; but through a person who had been relieved of stammering, by an adept in this art: do hereby certify, that we did obtain our know-ledge in an honest and correct way: without the aid of any person or persons whatsoever; either directly or indirectly—by verbal, written or any other communication. That by our own skill and industry, actuated by pure and honest motives, we obtained a knowledge of this secret or art.

For our knowledge of this secret or art, we refer the public to Messrs. Andrew J. Blake. ney, John Hildt, jun. and Michael Seibert, (of Frederick,) near Martinsburg, all of whom have been relieved by our prescriptions.

ADAM STEWART, JESSE HORN. Martinsburg. Berkeley county, ¿ Virginia, Nov. 9, 1826.

PROPOSALS

For curing Stummering and other Impediments of Speech.

Messrs. STEWART & HORN, RESPECTFULLY inform the Public, that they have opened an Institution in Martinsburg, Va. for curing Impediments of Speech. From a well-grounded belief of their ability, and from the perfect and unitorm success which has hitherto attended their efforts, in curing many very obstinate cases of Stammering, and other impediments of Speech, which have been submitted to them, that they have no hesitation in assuring the Public, that there is not an impediment of the character above described, which they cannot effectually remove in a few days or weeks at farthest; all that will be required from those persons making application to them, will be a strict observance of the remedies, which they shall prescribe. They will be found perfectly simple and easy, and productive of no inconveni-ence to the individual making use of them.

Their charges will, in every instance, be mo-derate; and should they fail to afford the fullest relief, no charge will be made. Nov. 9.

A DISH FOR THE HUNGRY.

FROM THE NATIONAL ADVOCATE. Large Potatoe-A potatoe of the large red kind, weighing three pounds and twelve ounces, was raised in Woodbury. Conn. the present season, by Mr. Benjamin Andrews. A radish measuring 23 inches in circumference, was raised in a garden in this town.

We have often thought of preparing a dish of remarkable potatoes, wonderful apples, ambitious pumpkins, Napoleon squashes, and Julius Cresar beets. with which to regale our readers. It is but proper that our city readers should know what the pumpkins, &c. have been doing in the country last summer. The Jackson men have issued new papers, but no journal has yet been started to record the glories of squashes. After a potatoe comes a thundering beet.

A Turnip Beet, which was raised by Mr. Wm. Mansfield, near New Haven, and may be seen at his store in Fleet street, measures two feet and one inch round—weight 13 pounds and

There's for you! But the editor ought to have given us a discription of how many housewives, old maids, &c. who have flocked to the store and held up their hands in wonder. Well what next An Apple-A gentleman of this city (New Haven) informs us that he has in his possession, an apple weighing 25½ ounces, and measuring 16 inches in or comference, it is nearly globular.

This apple would make a pie for a whole family, cook maid and all, but as New-Haven is a place of learning and the apple globular, perhaps they might pickle it, make it a globe, and study geometry on its surface. "To what strange uses, &c." But this is not all. Here is a new way of telling and

Ma. Entron: There seems to be much in terest taken in giving statements of erge apples, profife pumpkins, &c that I have the Interty to mention a large potatoe raised by Mr. Benjamin Andrews, of Woodbury Conn. It is of the Merino kind, and weighs 3 pounds and 12 ounces.

This is the same potatoe with which we began our dish. It it is cooked over again, called a Merino, and sent to another editor as a communication. In a short time our worthy country friends will have the Eclipse turnips, Sir Henry potatoes, Merino beets, &c. &c. There is nothing like a good classification.-

Well, let us go ou. Erial Pumpkin - As you have taken the pains to mention many extraordinary productions late-ly in your paper, I should be pleased to have you notice a curiosity lately observed in Ham-den, Conn. A pumpkin vine it seems had become discontented with its proper sphere, and had climbed up the side of a barn to the ridge, which may be 30 feet, where was suspended a fine yellow pumpkin, it will probably take its Better still. A vine climbing up to heaven on the side of a baro, and the pump-kin taking a flight to Thanksgiving as Noah's dove did from the Ark, are truely new and highly poetical ideas. This article was also taken from a New Haven paper, and the story must have come thro' the hands of some of the Connecticut posts or pedlars. But Connecticut must not have all the glory. Make way for Virginia.

Mammeth Cymlin .- A cymlin (or squash) was raised by Mr. Taylor Foulkes of this county, weighing 88 pounds measuring 6 feet in circumference It grew on a plant patch, and is of the winter species. It is now exhibiting at this place Halifax, C. H. (Va.) Oct. 15.

There's the "old dominion" for you; it they cannot give the nation more Presidents, they intend to try their luck in squashes. But think ye the noble Virginians would call it by the vulgar name of squash? By no means. A Cymlin they call it for the sake of the sound. Well after travelling over the different States to give our readers one good substantial dish, we ought to serve them up with something from the good State of New-York. So here it comes from Westchester in our neighborhood.

Extraordinary Exuberance.—We are informed that Mr. John Titus, of Somers, has raised in his garden this season, from a single pumpkin seed, fifty pumpkins, weighing one thousand pounds, on a vine measuring 1,650 feet! Let the annals of pumpkin growth in our country outstretch this fact if they can: and in the mean time, we add the standing toast of Uncle Ichabod—"Old Westchester forever."

And so be it, "Old Westchester fore ver!" In our lively, active State, there is no doubt but we have squashes, and apples, and turnips, and beets, &c. &c. to rival or outstrip all our sisters. Only observe, moreover, how the Westchester editor issues his "extraordinary" to the world. It is quite in the style of New-York. He announces a pumpkin as he would a Macready or a Kean, an opening of a Bull's Head, or a baptizing of a llavre packet. Farewell.

We have received the proceedings of the Tennessee Legislature to the 19th ult. inclusive. The business up to that date was merely introductory. Resolutrous had been introduced, referring to a Joint Committee the apportionment of representation for which the Legislature was specially convened. The Governor's Message appears to have been received with general satisfaction; 300 copies were ordered to be printed for the use of the Senate, and 1200 for the House of Representatives .- Nat. Jour.

Destructive Ihricane .- One of the most tremendious, awful and destructive hurricanes, of which we have any record, passed through the country about 15 miles above here, in nearly an east direction, on Friday evening, the 20th inst. The current of wind was only aboot 100 yards in width. In its course it swept every thing from the ground, such was its resistless fury, that the sturdiest oaks, and the heaviest rocks, were torn from the earth, and blown of like feathers before an ordinary wind. This is extravigant language, we know; but it is no more so than the reality will bear us out in using. The forest where the hurricane passed, was levelled with the ground! presenting the appearance of a meadow of luxuriant grass, with a single swath moved through the centre of it. Wherever it passed a plantation, it totally annihilated every thing in its course. The greatest sufferer we have heard of, is Samuet Jones, Esq. (late sheriff of this county.) The hurricane unfortunately passed directly over the most valuable improvements on his plantation near the Yadkin river, about 24 miles above this; and it left desolation and death in its wake. His large dwelling, the kitchens, smoke houses, negro houses, and a great number of other out-houses, with all their contents, were entirely swept from the ground where they stood, and blown off into thousands of atoms, and scattered over the country for miles around. Two negroes were killed, and another not expected to live. Fortunately a number of negroes, on hearing the coming of the wind, ran into a large barn, which was but little injured the current of wind passed east of it On the north-east side of the river, the hurricane in its course passed directly over the farm of Mr. Jacob Hoover; swept away all his buildings, and every thing in them; and killed his daughter, aged about 11 years. We have not learned the whole extent of the harricane.

To give some idea of the tremendious force of the wind, we can state, on the best authority, that large timbers, 18 inches square, and 20 or 30 feet long. were carried two and three miles: some of the wearing apparel, blown from Mr. Jones' house, was found lodged 6 or 7 miles from there; knives and forks were blown two and three miles, and some of them stuck fast in trees at that distance, &c. &c. We could name hundreds of other instances, seemingly as improbable as the above, which are vouched for in a way that will not admit a doubt as to their correctness.

It is almost impossible to estimate t loss Mr. Jones has suffered; it cannot be less than $2,000.

PENSACOLA, Oct. 18. Arrival of the John Adams .- The United States' Ship John Adams, J. Wile kinson, Esq. Commander, arrived at this port on Sunday last the 8th Oct. from & cruise, the officers and crew all in good health. It is a circumstance worthy of note, that during a cruise of nearly four months, there has been but one death on hoard the ship and only a few cases of sickness.

The Murder .- We understand that the body found near Webbville, on Chipola, is ascertained to be that of Mr. Morris, a stranger, who had been in the country but a few weeks and who, it bad been supposed, brought money with him, for the purpose of purchasing land. There is no doubt but this unfortunate individual was murdered, and it is supposed that a young man named Tod is the murderer.-It is said Tod was the last person seen with the deceased, that he absconded on Morris horse, which he rode to death, but finding that the alarm had not been given he returned to Chipola, where he remained until the body was found, when he again fled. We have heard that a reward has been offered for his apprehen-

A Slip, with which we have been favored from the Office of the New-York Mercantile Advertiser, contains the following paragraph:-

From Columbia .- A letter from Laguisra, of the 3d ultimo, has reached this city, by way of St. Thomas, from which the following is an extract:

"An arrival from Caracas this day, brings the intelligence of the arrival of Gen. Paez in that city, that he had called a meeting of the Cabildo, and stated his desire to have associated with him in the concerns of state, one hundred of the most respectable citizens, for the purpose of devising immediate measures for placing things on a proper footing. and to improve the situation of merchants particularly."

There was a snow storm at Philadelphia on Saturday last, about noon, which continued until towards evening.

The U. S. frigate Constellation, Capt. Wootsey, was at Matanzas, on the 25d
